THE MASTER MIND

Novelized by Marvin Dana, Author of "Within the Law," From the Successful Play by Daoiel D. Carter

Copyright, 1913, by the H. K. Fly Company

The thoughts of the Master Mind turned precently to Lucene. The subject was strangely distasteful to him now; yet he held to it, as if its fancination were superior to a will bitherto indomitable. He recalled his first purposes concerning this girl, the project of making her available as a weapon against his enemy. He had never fultored in that purpose. His first plan had been accomplished in its entiretynave the consummation, and that was naw at hand and sure beyond perudventure of doubt. But, while the primui introflen had been thus achieved, there bull been so much more oh, vastly more! He had become the creator of a radiant personality where had been only a very pretty, lifterate waif. He had caused the delicate fushtening of a woman refined and beauti ful far beyond the ordinary. He had found delight in his responsibility toward boy. He had had pride in a rewill that had not been save for his direction. The gratitude of the girl warmed his heart. The warped equtiam of the man did not permit him accurately to gauge the depths of his injustice toward her in making her life a pawn in his game of hate. On the courrary, he was able by some singuiar quirk of intelligence to take full setisfaction for himself in all his favors to her and to disregard almost completely the ultimate rule of her life. that must be bly hradlwork. He fall ed stierly to appreciate his own guilt toward her where the very develop ment of her nature which he had woonght would make her finel grief meet dreadful, on angulab influitely bewand the supubilities of burment posseased for Maggie Filiat. I have said that he falled atterly. That is not quite from He falled, induct, but not utterly. Semetimes an instruct to H-L the Master Mintl' ward the fruth flashed on him, but beabut his mental eyes to such thumbration. He preferred the derkheen rath er than the light-that chiefest sinand the might of his will gave to him

It difficult to hold his eyes shut. Since

In his perception now he tearned. loo, as never yet in the years of need failed on her and on well the distress or me or any other human being."

who must undergo be understy saw high a considerable effect on the ulurimed two.

For long he had known that she was "If it rectify a farrer," Andrew said. their that he chertahed her family. And you a thally expect in do fide patient here that she was, he trette more to him thing, to dispose of me thus complete these any other person in the world is with the and of these persons here gord. He tactoreload now that he had had, who winted despite their new for her a pure passion that of father, across of courage. Well-trucy I am Prompagation the Master Mind square and in fact, so much interpolated that I why life have for the dead frontier am disposed to give you all the amost burned been holdy in this hour. It was gare in my power. And let for midbecause the finner of his logic wice Mr. Waterweight, that I seem your all tolleding at the ability of this girl.

And was bein their lift to all its former savagory? The Marier Mint speak appalled from that question, which offered to make a much of all his sait. He threat it from him, shot-

Then presently be recollected the enorigins, but first control over his armoon love of up of buildingship his sendeviatingly as if even of them straigs things had externed at the piercetts hope to turn the appear of vengrance directed. Then his regarded the Master inclosures that was torogo so live. feet with an iteast wereholded of his peopose, he descended the state, went to the library slace, special it quely, and shoul on the thoughts, and up to sexually on the examply before him.

R was Weinwright when Anliya tive sidewood, specing in present of "Alt. I am! You are supaged to that settingenion as familiar to those of pour profession, impacting with the will bresses. It must seem to you guite the ord times, I June 7. You said allowed foury yourself client I alternay again. Then his gure won't to the there eries. hale, who refund structurely to ex-CHESTER AND PERSON.

It was Bloom why adorded an onexpected diversion. He shoul up and found the Master Mind source.

"You've got no kirk county" he suntried. "You girl been on the level Will us. Sear

Andrew assembly a meaner of pa-

"How so?" he deplied. Whiter broke into the conversation

"Hub-you!" he ejaculated, wrathfully. "And with a Pinkerton right here in the house every day." Andrew, however, received the triple accusation with equantmity.

"Have you as yet," he asked gener ally, "suffered any evil consequences from the presence of this Pinkerton in the house?" Of a sudden he threw off the pretense of mildness. His eyes flamed; his mouth drew into cruel lines. His voice was grating, surcharged with meance. "And so you think you can desert me with impublis, do you? You-desert me, at the building of this man here!" He made s contemptuous gesture toward Wafnwright. "Ob. you poor, blind worms?" "Well, what could you expect?" Wal-ter exclaimed, "You double crossed us, didn't you?" "No. I did not," was the impetuous "Why"- Atelrew checked himself abruptly, as if disdainful of yielding to anger because of such as these rebellious tools whom he despised.

You-desert me, at the bidding of this man here!"

of all this incompetent protector whom his own folly to a provided for you, Mr. Walewright. But you have notice your own beds now you shall be on them. Understand that, please! I have saff.

CHAPTER XVIII.

A Lunatica nais blanched and trembled. But maight the Master Mind found A why it was that they had been so subservient to the man of "Well, her he havet shown an boother's death, but at feast he was sland by me, between me we shall need for excitors, and tonight the thing came, him safely under observation for a he departed, leaving the oddly assort

A new lave had put set the the more automation of agreetly and. There was left only have of that outsextament because I know not of MY WE EXPERIENCE from Server-med you are to desiring with cooks to wither your corp cale." I contary to promise that we will not be disappointed "Weigwight to desirg. He remped an end strade to purposes of Paracc fielded from white blind with implicit employer. The

> THE Printers by Large, Mr. New a next gloring of belomph short swirking unrowly, deterral in Wainweight's sym, which Andrew, "You commit Parker," Weinstricks

Marshait Mayed to a Place Near the Mind for an instant contemplatively. "It is not yet too late for you to withdraw," be suggested. "I give you that option." Yet he had no hope of winning thus easily, and the result justified his tack of confidence, for Andrew juculated only a single word, inso-

"Proceed?" Andrew moved to an inconspicuous position by the wall merous the room from Walawright. His manner was wholly unconcerned, save for a more flickering light of anticipation, which Lu-ene observed approhensively. Marshall moved to a place near the door, in obedience to Walnwright's order. The others remained as they had been, but all exhibited something of new alertness, for now, at last, the crisis was come. Soon the door was opened by Parker, who stood aside to permit the entrance of Dr. Porties. The phyalcum advanced quickly to the master of the house, who, with Lucene, rose to greet bim.

Dr. Forkes bowed acknowledgment "But I'll not attampt to reason with of Lorens's invitation to a seat, as she fools," he continued arrogantly. "In herself returned to her chair, but he three words, I could make you see that chose to remain standing, while he no one on earth could save you from gianced about the room over the ill asthe consequences of my wrath-least sorted group with an expression of professional expectancy.

"What is the trouble " he questioned. "As a matter of fact, dector," Wainwright explained. we've had rather a lively evening-or night, I might better say-here in the house. The thing has been a bit bothersome, taking it limit and last. I shall give you the full detable as to all that has occurred in due course; but now it would take too much time. The upshot of the whole matter is that we've got a lumatic in our usually quiet and respectable home. Naturally, we want you to take him off our hunds."

"A junctic, ch." he said. "I had sort since I have some acquaintance with you all. Some stranger, I sup-

Walnwright shook his head empha-

"No," he said decisively, "not a stranger-not by any means a stranper." He raised his arm and pointed toward Andrew. "There be la!"

The physician's first autonishment sow became an unqualified amaze ment, as his eyes followed the direction indicated by his friend's gesture.

"What-Andrew?" he demanded. Walnwright nodded regretfully. "Yes," he said.

Andrew himself was standing mothinless, in a posture of particular imcitify. His even were downcast his hands were chaped as If in mute appoul. The expression of his counters ance was shrundfaced, with a feeble, T that name the three crimi- Forbes surveyed the unexpected pavarying simils of deprecation. Detient for a full minute, scrutinizing the Abruptly, then, they knew dejected attitude, the disconsulate face. "In he wielepty" he waked first he had seen the wife in her agony over invetery in was the inevitable tribute symptoms of a violent sort as yet. what had come to pass through his of the outlaw to the chief the instinct Warnwright admitted. But, as is not machinations he was unable to ignore rive yielding of hountse from their arm, I think Mrs. Walnwright is afraid he before this wretchedness of his middle the supreme in trime. It moves he may get dispersus at any moment, making for her. He would not escape accurred to those to doubt the truth of and I must confess for my own part this reversition. Welcoveright had avoid that I, boo, feet nervous concerning. ed my explanation in them concerning the matter. Lucene has noticed that Andrew's blentity he has been acting very only for "Pon's to frightened by a name." he some days. I've been as boas with the ciation with feet how door she was used, should "Why, rouge as ality many of my campaign that I failed to become to him. He altered no whit in as children wared by the begry man pay nearly attention to him myself his results of rengitues on the man He has determined strends to three But the others of the family being thing would be to get you over here. Despite Wainwright's efforts Dr.

to bimself that her matering must be use or any other human being." "Ah, I use!" the physician remarkamilitally, "Now, Cortland, I physician ordered In his moved appreciation of the in presented his plea were not without wish you to explain to me as accurate,

"Why as to that," was the answer. "the jeen man seems to have the most But had ward tonight had be grouped assembled this imposing array? He "Mirarchardy notions about the charhelps of my within relatives. Thus would be strange enough by fixelf. Why did you say these things?" But it is worse than that. The dehistory even goes so far that the hearths Resily, sir, it doesn't seem possible the mountrous bloom about my wife to me that I could ever have said such berself in some of the fact that hith droudful things about the family of my tion, expectant of condign punishment. acretice, and their can be no doubt abount main-duations. My brother to Mr. Watter to a thief?" law, I believe, was the first to notice this feature of his beauty. Pertiaps "Or that Mr. Blount is a bunk burgporalively on Watter and addressed my last prace before this in the same butting through a mixt of hors. "Oh many to have been tell by "Woll, now, Andrew," said De say, you can't be used to say, you can't be you de-Forties what Andrew said should you. Forties, how would you like to go this dreadful thing—so, and Oh het white Walter to the forties and the forties of the first the go instead-way must be called the forties of the forties of the forties of the first the first the forties of the first the first don't you, dad?"

"Who me?" she gasped.

Why, yes, son?" he replied. "Now, iet me see, that was - He paused sane asylum-no, no?" He wrung his in Wainwright's eyes shone unut-meditatively as if searching his mem- hands dispairingly, and his face be-

"It was the day before yesterday at imcheon. I spoke of it as soon as Aldrew was out of the room," Walter declated glibby.

Blount grunted affirmatively. That's right, son," he agreed. "That was the time you spoke of it, and then you had it out with him, you know." "Yes," Walter resumed. "Why, he actually had the nerve to accuse meme of being a jeweiry thief."

"Indeed?" Forbes ejaculated. "Yes, and what's more," Walter added, encouraged by his sucress thus far and becoming recklessly audicious, "he had the collosal perve to say he knew had done time in Sing Sing.

"Um! Singular!" the physician commented, "He said things to dad too. Tell what he said to you dad."

Blount crowded back his fears. "Why." he exclaimed, "the fellow railed me a bank burght?"

"Most extraordinary!" Forbes dechared. Blount shot a glance toward his wife. "You heard him, Sailte," he said, with a significant infection. Mrs. Blount, standing beside Lu-rene's chair, started. "Who, me?" she gasped, alarmed. Blount scowled at her.

"Yes, you! I say you heard him Didn't you? Sure you did-sure you

When she observed the mandatory stare of her husband she deemed if the part of prudence to do his implied bid-

"Ob, yes-I remember now," she said airtly in her rich voice, in which was bandly anticipated anything of the no tremor. "Sure I heard him. And you just ought to have heard what he called me. The very ideal" Her face set in lines of virtuous indignation. Oh, doctor, really it was too terri-Why, he had the audacity to say that I was a-a shoplifter from Milwankee! And all I ever knew about Milwaukee was what I've read in the beer advertisements" she exclaimed again indignantly.

> CHAPTER XIX. Not Madness.

YAINWRIGHT addressed the physician confidently You see, now, Harry, how it is. The thing same to a climax tonlight, when I began, with the sindilest intentions, to sak him some questions concerning his health. He "I'm under Mr. Wainwright's orders," tog to do him some lajery instead time at least, on his farm. Are you of really wanting to help him in his still of a mind to follow this course. imagine. First he repeated all these of entreaty. strange imaginings of which you "Oh, sir, if I only might" he cried. have been hearing here toutgut, and of should like it so very, very much, then be even was so wild as to tack air?"

and been sent to justthused, "I couldn't make head or tail he advised. "Under the circumstances, out of his manuferings. And Laurene now, an asylum would be the very per so worried that, finally, as you are worst place in the world for him an examiner is issuey, with the power Resliy, Cartinol, I couldn't think at Stother so much-because you loved and let you take him away and put Fortiss refused to commit Andrew, and

"Andrew, come here, please," the

"Yes, sir." The answer was untered ly as your untrained mind will on with the utmost respect. The Master others closely, shie you to do the waset details of the Mind immediately advanced to a post Til to result a farrer. Andrew said. "Macrifer displayed by our unfortunite time year in front of Forbes, where he said, with sest. "Oh, it was really remained smading potiently.

You have beaut what was said?"

"Ab! to your great surprise, eb? "I don't concenter saying them sirthat he himself actually believes these porties continued. "Do you think that Tar 7 Oh, no, air no, mover, sir, that about Mrs. Bloomt either."

"Why did you threaten Mr. Wainwright, saving that if he refused to do your hidding you would publish these abitted by the mewspapers?" "I'm very wery sin's Andrew respended, with a quick reversion to his former meek manner, "but I don't remember statisting about it, air was the next inquery. "Oh, geodness he, Mar"

we Mrs. Wallawightin

Nevertheless, my good male, if str. perre - fellectable featining that you beyon said these curious and offen by jet with a sachness that told the sire things. What have you to say to greatness of file sacrifice, son ha to the line line ?" Again Andrew Instead up.

"Well, she he subt. "no tell the tire from public life." train 1 am hit surprised. A thone tomy, you comlike it becomed to me once before. sir." There was a general movement of estimated in which even the physician should at this candid arous went swiftly to her insband and you would wish som to fell you him. "You also be went on, with operate, and looked down into his face with Warneright first his giance time between decaying his eyes; "I had bee eyes twin finness of dealy source. The best eyes twin finness of dealy source.

"One Water explained laminty along with me for just a little white me go instead you must I can't for great for several days new? He But the patient displayed a sudden co-let me go!

remember my speaking to you about it, and unexpected animation in opposition to this proposal.

"Oh, no, indeed." Not to an-an in- and the detective to leave the room. deed?" "But you surely need a change of some kind, Andrew," he urged.

"I know that, sir," he said softly. "I know it only too well, sir." Then a little more of spirit crept into his expression. He took a letter from his the groan that rose to his lips. It is pocket and held it forth to the physician. "I had thought that this might be the thing for me," he ended as man's lifetime. Forbes took the letter. "It is from a cousin of mine down in Virginia, sir," The physician scanned the missive.

"I see," he said thoughtfully. "As I understand it, then, you have entertained the idea of going down there hands and shook with sobbing. and living with your cousin, for some

And then, all of a sudden, Andrew, if you should be allowed?" he proceeded to make the most pre. The patient's face brightened, and posterous demands you could possibly his hands were raised in a movement en one in which he stated that my "Good?" came Forbes' crisp com wife, too, had been convicted of theft ment. He turned briskly to Wainwright. "That's the best way out of "To tell the truth, doctor," he con the difficulty, Corfland, by all means et group in the library.

The sir of humility now fell from Andrew as might a garment when he I love. And because you think he sacstrode forward, so that he faced the quita ingenious. Its one demerit was -Oh, yes, sir. To my great surprise. He looked slowly over the others in the room, with the exception of Lacene, from whom he held his gave studiously averted. None of the three criminals who had Joined in the futile revolt against him rentured to meet Andrew smiled as he contemplated them, and the smile boded III. The smile grew amusedly contemplative as he remarked Marshall, who was scowiing heavily, then of a sudden the Maser Mind's face set liseif in stern lines. He spoke with authority.

"Mr. Wainwright will excuse you now." he sufil trivially to the detective. Murshall sported indignantly.

'Um under Mr. Walnwright's orders wise the situation would be different." he growled wrathfully. "I guess you tell you you can't!" understand that"

"In you diddle Mr. Walmaright " reply. It was Walmwright who resuforced the command. Andrew then continued.

"It was at this hour of the morning." with me, sir oh, no indeed, sir very Mr. Walnwright, he said, with prefound solumnity, that my brother I am glad to here you speak in this died that he was put to death. Well bodies." Under said approvings, sir the time agreed or between us has ones. What is your choice?

Walnwright spoke very quietly, firm-

"Yoday, you remember."

Luceus started up.

Wainwright ordered the three crooks came writhen with fear. "Oh, I am whose heart was so torn by anguish sure that would drive me mad, in brought upon her through love of him. At least he must strive to comfort her, to assuage her grief, since her love re mained to him. As for this other thing. it was, after all by comparison, a little thing. Yet, even as he thought so, it was with difficulty that he checked no light thing to tear out by the roots the honorable ambition of a strong

The husband's voice was colorless. "What would be the use?" he said sadiy. "As to your leaving me, why, wherever you might go I should follow." The wife buried her face in her up and drew her into his arms, caressing her hair with exquisite tenderness in the gentle touch of his fingers. "Hush, hush, darling! Don't you know, Lucene, that I have you, and so nothing-nothing else-matters?" The scene falled somehow to give its evil genius the bilss he had thought to find in it. This lovers' rapture made mock of his vengeance. Yet, even as he asserted this to himself, Andrew knew in his soul that he lied; that the venom of his punishment was even stronger than he had guessed to polson the well of his enemy's hopes and its virulence would increase, not lessen-Nevertheless there was disappointment to him here in the hour of triumph, He had gained all for which he had striven-yes, all! And something more ...the misery of Lucene! In a fury of rage against his own weakness Andrew thrust the thought of Lucene from him. His voice broke gratingly.

"Your resignation in writing, Mr. Wainwright, if you please."

Wainwright spoke listlessly. "I will write it in my study at once and bring it to you here. Come with me, Lucene. Abruptly, violently, the wife tore herself from his arms. As he rested motionless, amazed, she durted to Anfrew, clutched his wrist in her two hands, when he would have recolled avoluntarily before this enslaught of the woman he had wronged. Her voice ame softly, haltingly, painfully veighted with the burden of love's ragedy. The violet eyes, humid, tener, infinitely pathetic in their pleadng, met his ere he could turn his gaze side and held him in their spell.

"Oh, Andrew," she cried, "I have rusted you-1 have loved you! Besuse of that I have tried to think ow you could do this terrible thing

"Must we go into that now?" the can demanded roughly as she paused. He felt his strength slipping from him. te felt his wrath leaping high, wrath gainst himself, against fate-not against her-"Yes, we must," she said bravely, for I may never speak to you again. luve fried to think what it could be, and mow-now I know! I understand it last. It was because you loved your in so that nothing else mattered at Isn't that it, Andrew?" Yes, that is it," he answered busk-

But don't you see don't you see?" he questioned with the fierceness of ared. "You've hated the man rificed your brother whom you loved now you will sacridee me in the same way Den't you see, Andrew?" Her ofes probed the farthest recesses of his soul. They tortured him with their posgnant reproach, yet be could not purn from them so great was the strength of her weakness,

But, though he understood too well, he still struggled impotently against her, against a self he thought dead. "No, no?" he stammered, "No, 1"-

Lucene went on:

"You can't ruin his life, Andrew, wiffigut ruining mine too. You can'tyou can't!" Her voice's music rose throlding. "Don't you care what beomes of me, Andrew? Do you know on are turning my love into hate? You don't want that. Oh, you don't! know you don't. Andrew. You are not going to tell me now that hate, not ove, le to role your life and mine. Oh, surely Andrew, you are not going to soul me through the rest of my life and following his instructions tuber; buting you as you have hated himnot that | No. Andrew, you can't-I

Slowly, at inst, the lide drooped over Andrew day not fromlik himself to Andrew's eyes. He furned his head a little, with a movement of lassitude. Then the lids were lifted again, and he looked full into the eyes of Watnwright, and the own were inscrutable, in his voice sounded a note of futile remonstrance against destiny,

"I've hoted you for years," he said quietly, he you know very well. You are aware also that my hatred of you has been my raing queston since its beginning in that time, all my days, yes, every waking hour, have been de-"You have me no choice," he said "vited to the task of accomplishing simply. "You have won. I shall re- your ruin. This in the instant of my trismph. I hold you here in the bollow of my hand, with the power and the will to crush you. Well, sir, 1system my hamil and let you go." An imperious gesture restrained the etelemethou that rose to Wasswright's

The applanation of this inconsisten-7 is very simple. It lies in the fact that I am a fool-the greatest fool in an this world of fools, So, because I am as h a fool, you are eafe from me, Mr. Watewright-now, and always, 1 wish you good morning." He moved toward the door.

But the wife, radient in an instant, would not have it so.

"Andrew!" she cried. "Oh, that God!-not only for our happiness, b for your sake, too, since love has co quered hate, at last!"

The Master Mind spoke heavily. "I only know," he said confusedly that the most unlikely thing in a the world has happened. I mean the in the hour of victory my triumph ha turned to ashes in my mouth. I only know that, since I cannot crush m enemy alone, I cannot crush him all. No other could, I think, but you Lucene-you've beaten me."

Lucene spoke very gently. "Then I was right all this time. Yo Aid love me, and you do atfil ?" Andrew shook his head doubtfully.

"I only know," he said, "that I car not do you harm." Lucene made an impulsive step as t to follow him, then checked herself

This man still held in his heart hatre "There, there!" he cried soothingly, for the husband she loved. distraught by her agony. He stood "Where will you go, Andrew?" He answered very gravely, sadly:

"I do not know-only, not back int the shadows whence I came." He paused for a little, and added, wist fully: "Be happy, Lucene, and remem ber sometimes, if you will, that, after all, it was I who brought you you happiness." Then he went quickly from the room, and so out of their lives. But the happiness that had been his gift abode with them always. THE END.

SYNOPSIS.

Henry Alien, a young married man, is sentenced to be executed for killing the man who won the affections of Allen's wife. Allen's brother, Andrew, known to the criminal world as "The Master Mind," determines to avenge his brother. He writes the district attorney that he will send him white, red and black blank cards indicating the progress of his plans for revenge. Andrew discovers that the district at torney who convicted Henry is in love with an orphan girl who once saved his The district attorney, Wainwright, not find her. Andrew finds the girl and after conspiring to send her to prison gets her re-leased. He then educates her.

The Master Mind, Andrew, then provides a family and a house for the girl, Lucene. The members of the "family" are ex-crooks living under assumed names. Lucene, however, does not know of their Andrew takes the position of but-Lucene's three associates represent themselves as her father, mother and brother. They take the name of Blount under Andrew's commands. Finally, unknown to Lucene, they quarrel among themselves. Walnwright, the district attorney, is lured to the Blount establishment by Andrew and accomplices. Wainwright has loomed up as a leading candidate for governor of New York state. Andrew plots Lucene meets Wainwright. It is a case of love at first sight. Each remembers the occasion when the girl saved his life by binding a tourniquet around a wish injured in an automobile accident. They marry. Creegan, a notorious western thief, is commoned east by Andrew for a myst-lous purpose. Creegan talks with Walter Bount, who is a criminal posing as Laene's brother.

Creegan learns that the girl he once Lucene, the wife of District Attorner Walnwright. The thief is informed by Andrew as to where the Walnwright jewis are kept. Andrew sends Wainwright a black card—the sign that his blow is

On receiving the black card, which was found inserted in a book, Wainwright holds a conference with Marshall, a de-lective, about "The Master Mind."

Andrew reveals to Wainwright that, although posing as a butler, he is really the dreaded Master Mind. Marshall cap-tures Creegan in an attempt to rob the Wainwright family safe ent and recognizes Creegan. Wainwright appears on the scene. The fraveled from Chicago to see her at her request. He claims that she gave him Andrew informs Wainwright that he is rulning his home and his political chances deliberately and that mothing can stop him. He hims vaguely at the nature of thief tries to compromise Lucene, following Andrew's orders, and says that he

the so called "relatives" of the district attorney's wife. Andrew finally reveals the names and criminal records of the people who had posed as members of the family of Luckse. He shows that by making all this public he can prevent Wainwright from leting slotted are the control of being elected governor.

mate Andrew's schemes by enlisting the sid of the three "Blounts"—father, mether and Walter, the supposed son. The Master Mind is confident that the district atterney cannot circumvent him. Wainwright endeavors to have Andrew committed to a lunatic asylum, but falls. The Master Mind then forces Walnwright to state that he will retire from the con-test for the governorship. The plotter is exultant. Andrew finally responds to the workings of his conscience. He tells Wals-weight that Lucenc's prison sentence was due to faise charges inspired by himself, and that he compelled her to acknowledge the Blounts as her family. He says that to take his revenue would harm Lucens as much as it would her husband. He does not do her any injury. He goes

The district attorney plans to check-

Customs Receipts At Seattle Show Increase

Scattle, Wash., July 2.—Customs recipts at the Port of Scattle for June unted to $100,971.69, a gain of $25, tills over the corresponding month ast year. The total receipts for the liscal year ending June 30 was $1,079, 155, which is a loss of $214,607.28 as compared with the previous year.

Our Airnis to give you Results No matter what kind of a Want Ad you put in our paper wewill give you results